

SUNDAY TO EVERYDAY

Rewired Week 5: Surrender

WEEKLY SCRIPTURE

Read: Matthew 6:9–13

Take your time, and write down what stands out to you.

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

Surrendering Your Position

When you begin prayer with “Our Father in heaven, hallowed be Your name”, how does this reshape your posture before God?

→ In what ways do you need to remember that you are His child, not His commander? (James 4:10)

Surrendering Your Plans

Jesus invites us to pray “Your kingdom come, Your will be done.”

→ Where in your life are you still trying to make your own kingdom come instead of aligning with God’s? (Proverbs 3:5–6)

Surrendering Your Provision

“Give us this day our daily bread” teaches us to trust God one day at a time.

→ What’s one area of your life where you need to release anxiety about tomorrow and trust God for today? (Philippians 4:19)

Surrendering Your Past

Jesus connects forgiveness received with forgiveness given.

→ Who might you need to forgive so that your heart can experience freedom and healing?

→ What keeps you from letting go of old debts or grudges? (Ephesians 4:32)

Surrendering Your Protection

“Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.”

→ What temptations do you need to bring into the light so God can lead you away from them?

→ How can your group help you stay alert and accountable? (1 Corinthians 10:13)

Surrendering Your Praise

When you close prayer with “For Yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever,”

→ How does praise at the end of prayer reframe your worries or your desires? (Romans 11:36)

PRACTICE SURRENDERING

Pray one phrase from the Lord’s Prayer each morning and live it out:

Monday: “Our Father in heaven” – Worship before you worry.

Tuesday: “Your kingdom come” – Obey before you argue.

Wednesday: “Give us this day” – Trust before you take.

Thursday: “Forgive us” – Release before you resent.

Friday: “Lead us not” – Follow before you fall.

Saturday: “For Yours is the kingdom” – Praise before you post.

Surrender isn’t giving up; it’s giving over.
